

Metrum

Metrum
Lounge

Metrum offers traditional lounge functionality based on its well-considered proportions. Seat width and depth provide ample accommodations, yet maintain an overall footprint suitable for contract. Metrum is remarkable for its potential to create endless, linear runs by offering a variety of sensible components. Depending on the elements specified, Metrum may be configured appropriately for hospitality, public-seating, workspace, residential, and traditional environments.

Designer: Anthony Land

Anthony Land was born in Hatboro, Pennsylvania. His interest in both the arts and sciences led him to study design, attending schools in the U.S. as well as Italy. While in his final year of study, Anthony interned at Stylex. After earning an Industrial Design degree from Philadelphia University, he began working full time at Stylex as a product designer and developer.
