

MULTISTATIONS⁺™

three h

The original MultiStations OS one-inch-thick panel divider system will now have the option between a metal framework system (seven inch height increments) and a monolithic frameless panel offering under the new banner MultiStations+.

Whereas MultiStations OS was dependent on an aluminum framework to combine panels, now with MultiStations+ a new connection system has been created to attach panels without the requirement of metal trim. The frameless dividers provide a clean, fresh look without the need of the visible metal framework.

Both MultiStations options are now available, see more at:
